Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Brightest in the east, patchy rain further west. Very mild.

Today:
Bright and breezy for much of the region, with periods of hazy sunshine in the east especially. Generally cloudier further west, with the chance of a little rain at times here. Very mild for all parts. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming cloudier and damp during the evening, as cloud and patchy rain make erratic progress eastwards, probably stalling over the region towards dawn. Staying mild and frost-free. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
Probably rather cloudy and damp on the whole, with patchy rain possible for much of the day, although winds will be lighter than on Saturday. Generally very mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday should see similar conditions to Sunday, ahead of windier and perhaps occasionally wetter weather spreading in towards midweek. Staying on the mild side.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.